To the best
looking girl I know,
I have enjoyed being in school with you. Best well & not sweet way of yours, love

Sandra, to look
I hate to think it'll back and I think it
soon be over, yet it
I'm glad in a way.
All never forgot
that little puppy
day, the staircase, etc.
Good luck at Peace, and I hope to strike. We hope around you succeed in you succeed in tell your good you have a few wonderful, even humor, even though you got a little mischievous.

"RESERVED" Wayne

I have been a friend for a number of years, but I never knew it would be as close a friend as I am now. Sandra I know you will enjoy going to Peace next year and I will enjoy sitting around Tuguey! Ho Sandra you are one of a few girls that I have ever dated that I think so much of. Even though you are soon going to Peace I hope we can get together on the weekends and have some fun such as we had at the beach. As you graduate I know you will be going out in a new world of life ~~but~~ and meeting new friends girls as well as "boys" but those you will remember me. The re-union the seniors are planning to have where if you are married you can bring your husband, I hope we can go, it makes me sad ~~to~~ to have to write in your annual when I know it will be the last time I will ever get to write in one of yours ours. I know you have a lot to look forward to after you get out at Peace. I hope as a friend you will succeed in whatever kind of a career you may choose. Sandra I have done some men things and you thought that I was treating you mean but I was picking at you. Sandra I was hoping you would greet ~~me~~ me with an invitation to the junior-Senior, and finally you did, and I had a ball with "Phyllis and Dot" and after the junior-Senior we had a ball going to the beach with our bannas. I wish Phyllis would have a P.J. Party before graduation, so we could have some more fun. I hope you had a ball at the senior's party. I will close for now and not write a book. May God ~~the~~ bless

P.S. There is not much hope for success here.

Love always from and watch over a friend who loves and takes care you more than ~~than~~ you will ever know.
Love Wayne Johnson,

Sondra

I know I have had times when maybe I talked at you for the way you did at the way you drove my car, but I can truly say that you have been the best female friend I have ever had except ~~Sondra~~ Linda and I have enjoyed every minute that I have been around you

and I don't you
to know what you thoughts of my ~~bottom~~ ~~bottom~~
at you sometime.
I really think
the world of you

Dedication

It is with deep appreciation and gratitude that we, the senior class, dedicate this nineteen hundred and sixty-three edition of the Greenbriar to one who has taken interest in our individual rights and problems. To one who has freely given time, advice, and friendship, we say thank you. To you, MR. HAROLD ELLEN, we dedicate our annual.

STUDIES

English

Billy Eatmon brushes up on his vocabulary in Junior English.

Seniors David Vance and Candy Harris explore the world of books.

Sally Cozart pantomimes the application of eye make-up in Dramatics.

The field of English encompasses a wide range of areas. Beginning with English I and continuing through English IV, Fuquay students explore grammar, practice creative writing, read the works of literary masters from all over the world, and gain a good speaking vocabulary in their home language. A Dramatics class and a Public Speaking class have been added to our English department this year.

Dwight Flanagan, a freshman, seeks advice from Mrs. Haddock.

Social Studies

Frantic first period in American History.

Every graduate of Fuquay is required to complete four social study courses. The courses offered at Fuquay are North Carolina History for eighth-graders, World History for Sophomores, a television course in United States History for Juniors, Economics-Sociology for Seniors, and a combined course of Geography and Government for any student in high school. Through these courses the students are exposed to the past, present, and future.

Two geography students, Janie Bowling and Richard Horton, read and ask questions.

Julia Aiken, Bobby Roberts, and Ann Judd admire an economics bulletin board on the influence of the stock market.

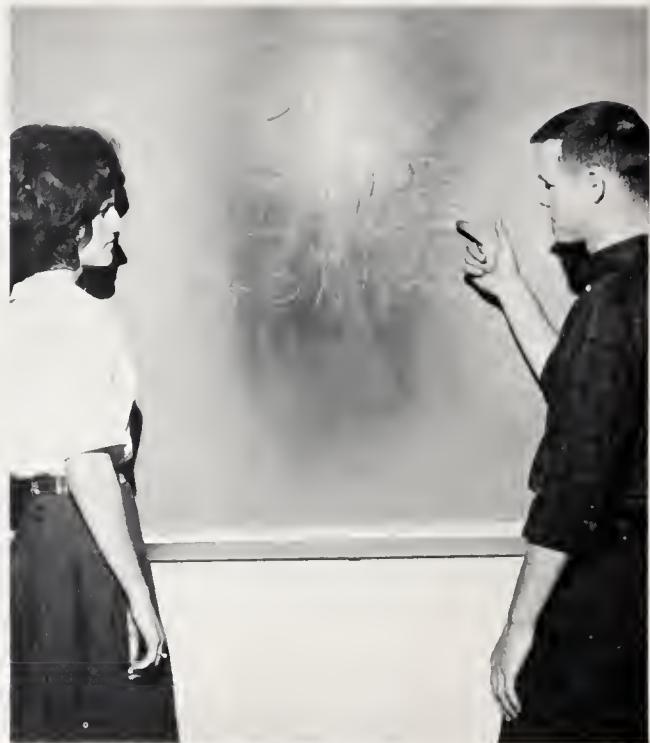

David Stephens and David Howard learn from posters in World History.

Mathematics

Jane Smith explains a trigonometry problem to the class.

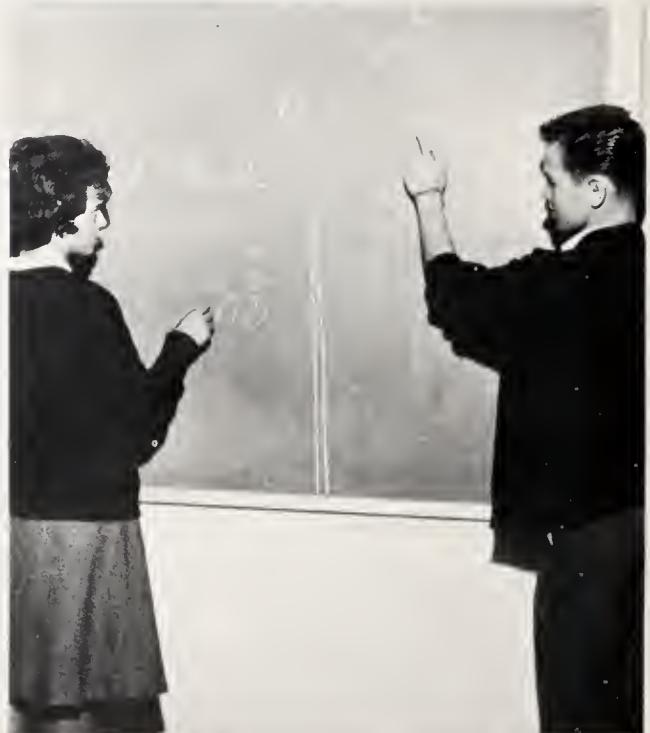

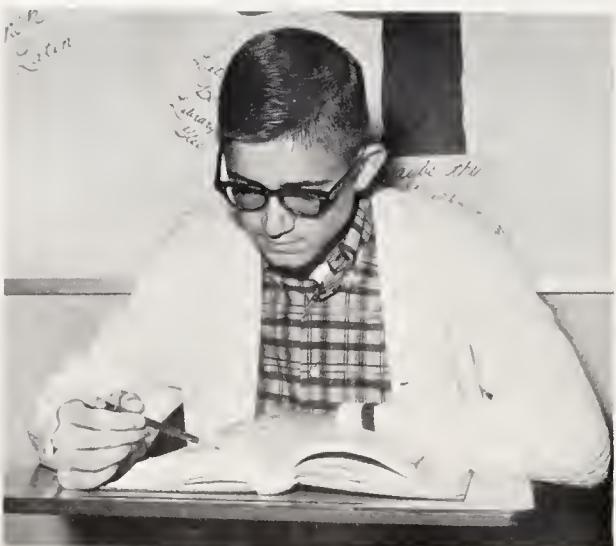

Division of trinomials in Algebra II poses a problem for Ellen Fish and James Payne.

Seeking to prepare its students for the extensive opportunities now open in mathematics, Fuquay High School offers courses which familiarize students with the principles and practical application of math. Math is studied in forms ranging from General math to Trigonometry. For business-minded students, business arithmetic is also offered.

Jennifer Ashworth and Craig Bullock prove triangles congruent in plain geometry.

What a quandary! Freddie Morris strikes a typical pose in Algebra I.

Science

Joyce Pope, John Daniel Smith, Jimmy Meadows, and Ann Motley testing theories, hypothesis, and laws.

General Science students Karl Busick and Donna Williams observe the effects of a deficiency of milk products.

"Oscar" comes in handy in Biology, as shown by Mary Tingen and Donald Tudor.

Students at Fuquay High are being challenged in the world of science in laboratory classrooms such as General Science, biology, chemistry, and physics. They dissect insects, work with electricity and peek in test tubes—all building on previous knowledge to explore the fascinating unknown. They are very proud of their well equipped chemistry and biology laboratories.

Michael Cotten concentrates on a physics problem.

Foreign Languages

Larry Coats increases his Latin vocabulary.

The language lab aids students in the study of foreign language.

By studying the language of other countries, we not only learn how to communicate with the people, but we also learn much about them. We study about their customs, their laws, and government, their dress, and their religious beliefs. At Fuquay, a student may take either two years of Latin or two years of French. French students gain a knowledge of the defects in their speech through the language laboratory.

Don McCauley and Joan Ashworth ask, "Qui est-ce?"

French II students "chantent en francais."

Business Education

Have you ever thought that you might like to be a typist, a clerk, or a private secretary? Because these three are essential in the world of business, good jobs can always be found; however, in order to get a good job you must be not only good but an expert. Here at Fuquay High, courses in Typing I and II, shorthand, bookkeeping, business arithmetic, and practice in operating business machines are offered to students entering the field of business.

Margaret McGee and Judy Jones practice their shorthand.

Priscilla Mize efficiently operates the mimeograph machine.

Mrs. Ellington advises her students how to keep a neat and accurate account in bookkeeping.

Students increase their typing ability in Typing II.

Vocational Home Economics

Sunny Owens, Elaine Jackson, Mary Fleming, and Donna Eason practice personal grooming.

The new display case is admired by Grace Yancey and Jane Trull.

Mrs. Farnell often lectures to her classes.

A high school girl's dream of becoming a homemaker will soon be a reality, so among our school's most functional courses is home economics. This year the girls have brand new facilities in which to learn the arts of sewing, practical etiquette, interior decoration, personal grooming, and of course cooking.

Girls take Vocational Home Economics in their freshman and sophomore years. Two years must be taken in order to receive credit for the course.

Linda Honeycutt and Martha Burt learn the arts of decorating.

Vocational Agriculture

All boys interested in Vocational Agriculture are even more interested in it this year because of the new building. The boys are very proud of their building, and are taking care of it very well.

The boys learn the principles and applications of farm mechanics, and rural leadership through class instruction and demonstrations. The boys also gain much experience through their F.F.A. activities. Two years are required for the course.

Second year boys learn the correct way to care for shrubbery.

Senior boys transplant a shrub in the front of their new building.

Mr. Hunt lectures in the classroom.

Practice teachers demonstrate the wood-cutting machine.

Health and Physical Education

Oh, listen to those bones crack!

Ninth grade girls and boys learn calisthenics in Physical Education. They play in the gym and outdoors. Through these activities they learn to work and play together.

In the classroom these students learn health. The body, its organs and their functions, the blood and its circulation, are just a few of the subjects studied by them.

Jumping rope this way proves strenuous exercise!

The results of physical fitness are demonstrated.

Mrs. Medlin explains the importance of the heart in blood circulation.

Principal

Someone has said that life deals with man, in such a manner that oftentimes he feels as if he were in a cage; that he cannot escape from the demands, restriction and conformity of society and life. Perhaps you have had this feeling as a child, as a student, or a young adult seeking your proper place in society.

The story is told that some monkeys were taken to a zoo and placed in a cage with no top. They were all alike except that two of them could fly. One day, as they were sitting in the sun, one of them said, "I wish we could get out of here." "Then why don't we fly out," said the other; whereupon they flew away. The men at the zoo observed them flying away and one said, "If we had put them in a cage with a top on it, we would have had a good thing here at the zoo."

Have you looked recently to see if there is a top on your cage? Should you sit idly by and accept being caged, you'll never develop to your potential as a citizen in a democratic society nor find your place as "one made in the image of God."

The world waiting to greet you is divided into two ideological camps. One, the Communists, is attempting to cage mankind. They would place a top on your cage and destroy God's Image. The other, Democracy, recognizes the dignity of the individual and would free man from his cage. It will give you the freedom to glorify God's Image. You are fortunate that the latter is your heritage and that you have the privilege of preserving this heritage through hard work, vigilance, and truth. James Russell Lowell says:

"Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide;
In the strife of Truth and Falsehood, for the good or evil side."

FORREST COUNCIL
President

Student

The Student Council hold their induction ceremony in assembly.

The Student Council is an organization of students elected by their classmates to serve as official student representatives in all important matters concerning the entire school. Most clubs and each class elect a representative. The four officers become members of the Administrative Committee.

Each year the Student Council sponsors the elections, Orientation Day for new freshmen, dances, and a money-making project. This year they sold stickers with a falcon emblem on it. During the late summer, a few members went to Elon College for a workshop. They brought home many new ideas. The Council also sponsors "victory" weeks for football games.

Diane Ellis, Gloria Welch, Sunny Owens, Michael Cotten, Leigh Johnson, and Al Eatmon serve the Student Council well.

Don McCauley, vice-president,
Ann Judd, treasurer, Forrest
Council, president, Ellen Fish, secretary, Clara Mincy, sergeant-

Council

Don McCauley shows Jessalyn Allen, Anna Adams, and Brenda Saunders the report from the Student Council Workshop held at Elon College.

The Homecoming Dance.

Beta Club

Members of the Beta Club.

The Fuquay Springs Chapter of the National Beta Club admits juniors and seniors on the basis of a 3.3 quality point average. To remain in the club a member must maintain a 3.1 average. Each member pays his dues when he enters the club.

Beta Club members sponsor service projects.

Each spring the Betas attend the State Convention. A few representatives attend the monthly meetings of the Wake County Council of Beta Clubs. Every member participates, because we know that we can lead by serving others.

Jerry Bradley, president, Robby Robertson, secretary, Tommy Bennett, treasurer, and Gloria Weleh, student council representative serve as officers this year. Mrs. Willson is the sponsor.

Larry Vaughn, Diane Prince, William Wright, Jayne Hollerman, and Linda Saunders look at their Beta Club journals.

Marshals

An essential part of Fuquay's annual baccalaureate and graduation exercises were the marshals, with their traditional attire and green sashes. Due to a tie between the top two students, these two served as co-chief marshals. In addition, there were eight other students, all chosen according to their academic standing. The marshals, in general, keep the exercises running smoothly.

Forrest Council and Elizabeth Engle serve as co-chief marshals.

Future Teachers of America

F.T.A. members walk over to the elementary grades to help the teachers and gain some valuable experience.

Brenda Williford reads to Mrs. Hopson's fifth graders.

Officers are, Brenda Williford, president, Jewell Blanchard, treasurer, Phyllis Johnson, secretary, and Sunny Owens, student council representative.

The Future Teachers of America is a club organized on a national basis with state, county, and local clubs. Its purpose is to stimulate the interest of qualified students into becoming teachers. The organization sponsors Teacher Appreciation Week, during which each teacher receives an apple, a flower, and help from the future teachers. This work provides help and experience for everyone.

Monogram

Club

Organized to stimulate school spirit and promote good sportsmanship, the Monogram Club is composed of students who have been awarded a varsity letter in any major sport or as a manager. The members may be spotted by their lettered jackets and sweaters. Each year the Monogram Club manages the concession stand at the football and basketball games. Only by hard and sincere work can this club exist as such in future years.

Monogram Club members listen to a talk on sportsmanship by Jerry Bradley.

The concession stand at the football games.

Bobby Roberts, president, Jane Smith, secretary-treasurer, and Steve Ashworth, student council representative discuss their plans with other members.

Science Club

Members of the Science Club listen to Mr. Smith, their sponsor.

The Science Club is composed of students who have a great interest in the field of science. These students enter projects in the annual Science Fair held in the spring. The sponsor is Mr. Smith.

The junior class has many members interested in science.

Tony Spainhour lines up his bus along with the others.

Bus Drivers

All bus drivers at Fuquay Springs High School are members of the Bus Drivers Club. They maintain safety and good conduct on our school buses. Mr. Farnell is the sponsor.

Bus drivers must fill out a bus report each day.

Latin Club

The Latin Club consists of freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Mrs. Haddock is the sponsor.

All students who are taking or have taken Latin are members of the Latin Club. They are represented on the Student Council. Mrs. Haddock sponsors the club.

Library Club

Miss Southerland sponsors the Library Club. Students who will work in the library and who are interested in library work are members. They gain much experience through their work.

Members get the books ready for the shelves.

Books are read and admired by these members.

One of the largest organizations in the high school is the F.H.A. All girls who are taking or have taken Home Economics are eligible. During the year, the girls attend county, district, and state rallies.

This year the girls are having a party, with "Winter Wonderland" as the theme. In the spring, we will show off our new building at our tea for our parents.

This organization is beneficial to all of its members. These girls are truly looking "Toward New Horizons."

Sophomore members of the F.H.A.

The F.H.A. also has junior and senior members.

Future Homemakers of America

Boys taking Agriculture are eligible to be members of the F.F.A. The goal of the members is to learn by doing, to improve every phase of farm life.

The F.F.A. participates in the annual livestock show. This year the boys have a brand new building. These facilities help Mr. Hunt and Mr. Manley in their teaching.

Each spring the F.F.A. has a Father-Son Banquet. The F.F.A. Sweetheart is presented at this banquet. Much work is put into this event.

Freshman members of F.F.A.

Future Farmers of America

The F.F.A. also has junior and senior members.

Sophomore members of F.F.A.

The band adds "pep" at the football games.

Fuquay Springs High School Band

Fuquay Springs has long been noted for its high school band. Our band has well represented our school and community at numerous parades and contests. Its members are careful to see that the utmost is done to preserve this reputation that has been established.

Due to the tireless efforts of the Band Boosters Club last year, the band was able to get new uniforms. These still look very nice this year.

The band presents half-time entertainment at the football games. They present several concerts during the year, including a lawn concert.

Five factors make the band a good one (1) talent (2) an excellent director (3) determination (4) a modern music building which provides a pleasing atmosphere and adequate room for equipment (5) Band Boosters Club.

Band is considered a regular course and members are graded as in other subjects.

Barbara Smith and Tommy Bennett admire those long awaited class rings.

Senior Memories

Doesn't this sight look familiar to the juniors who went to Williamsburg?

Another part of Williamsburg.

Senior Class History

Who has the smallest picture in the annual? Who gets laughed at when he can't open his locker? Who is the very lowest creature in high school? That's right! The Freshmen. But we were happy because we were in high school at last.

Our fall elections really caused excitement. Remember those crazy campaign posters on every reasonably large spot on the wall? The platform must have been parties, because we had more than a few.

We struggled through Latin, learned to cook and sew in "home ec," and were taught the correct way to trim shrubs in "vo-ag." We complained about the showers, ran endless laps around the gym, and read Great Expectations. We gave general math and algebra a rough time and learned the most effective way of fighting the recess mob to get from place to place. Miraculously, we lived through it, and then . . . .

We were Sophomores! No longer were we sneered at by the entire high school, just by the upperclassmen. We had to raise some money—for what?—who remembers? Our talent show was a huge success.

We performed the gruesome task of cleaning the aquarium and played janitor after school when we were caught with chewing gum. A few learned to do the Mexican hat dance. Some crafty ones created their own axioms for proving triangles congruent, while others worried about the dresses they were making and tried to transform skinny calves into fat ones. Remember that hoe down? Of course, there was the excitement of getting drivers' licenses, and laughing at something in the gossip column of the school paper.

We could hardly believe it! We were Juniors already; time went by so rapidly. How wonderful it was—and how plebian seemed those underclassmen.

The Junior play might not have been a smash, but the cast had such a good time at rehearsals that no one dared miss a one. The number of tests we took that year was unbelievable. Then came the huge headache—"But we'll never get the gym decorated by Friday!" But we did and surely New Orleans couldn't have done better.

We learned to parlez français and learned from experience that sulfur has a most disgusting odor when heated. We built furniture in the shop and forced ourselves to watch our television history class. In those cold English classes, there were rules to learn and impromptu themes (on "Dirt," remember?) to write. We tackled quadratic equations and typing drills. The marshals complained of aching feet and a few tears were shed as we watched friends graduate.

Surely this can't be us! But it is, and we are Seniors! !

We thought we'd never get those class rings, but when we did, we were so proud! Someone finally painted the water tower and we began to settle down to routine. There were the SAT, mid-terms, parties, and measurement for caps and gowns.

Only baccalaureate and graduation remained ahead of us.

We have shared smiles and tears, success and failure. Our high school days have passed, but we have beautiful memories to keep with us always.

ANN JUDD

FOOTPRINTS

Stepping into the first footprints
We wondered—
Are we able to fill them?
Is this pathway passable?
Can we do the tasks required?

Still we follow the footprints
Of the ones who went before.
We no longer wonder—we know.
We will fill the footprints,
Maybe even stretch them,
Adding that of our own,
Leaving our mark—
As we go through the door of education
And up the ladder of life.

Sandra,

I guess it all started when I moved up here in that little red house. We had cold winds, they seem to blow all day. Those cold winds we had to COMPLIMENTS TO FUQUAY SPRINGS HIGH SCHOOL but we're more used to the cold now. It's been to 70 degrees here, but it's still cold. The cold is to the bone. It's like a cold from the inside out. The weather, May 21, is so close. Those birds sing, and we work. Sandra may you always be just as you were and have many, many qualities.

I'll never forget those times when a "problem" would come up at the last minute and I'd run to your house where you'd have my answers for me. It seems that most of my male friends will either go to your house, (you know who) or call you to get information about me. I guess they trust you <sup>Compliments of</sup> Standard Homes just as I do. Thanks for everything!

Standard Homes

Sandra I've really enjoyed going to your house. You have a real sweet family. I know you and your mother get tired of my going to your house <sup>Fuquay-Varina, North Carolina</sup> to "eat". Your mother is a real good cook!!

I guess you'll be at Place next year, and I hope I'll be going to Wake Memorial. We won't be very far apart so maybe we'll get to see a lot of each other. I hope I'll be able to go up to Place and TASTEE-FREEZE see you some. I'm looking forward to your coming home and staying with me some too.

HOT DOGS — HAMBURGERS

flameless electric househeating.*

Since there is no flame, there are no products of combustion such as moisture, soot, grime or smoke. Electric heat consumes no oxygen thus insuring a clean, constant, healthful supply of air.

Still further, you gain the distinctive benefit of room-by-room control which only electric heat provides. If you are wondering how it compares in operating cost, just ask your CP&L representative to show you case histories and actual operating records. In this way, you can prove to yourself that flameless electric househeating costs no more than older methods of flame-type heat.

A PRODUCT OF

333 INDIANA AVENUE
WINSTON SALEM, N.C.

Sandra,

It has been a long time, hasn't it? along with the times came all of the things which we did. Some of them weren't exactly lady-like, but still we did them and now I wouldn't change them for the world. In fact, I would die if I thought I had to change any of them. For six years we have practically lived together. We even stayed together so much, that people began to say we looked alike (and who can tell we might really). I would consider this a compliment to be as cute & "petite" as you are now, were, & I guess will always be. I hope that ~~I~~ might be able to observe your changes; even until we are both dead with old age.

With May 31 will come the end of many friendships. I pray that ours won't end though. And if it is up to me it won't. I really don't think I could live one week without knowing that you were where I could get in touch with you easily for just someone's shoulders to cry on, borrow something or just to have someone. I could talk to. And heavens knows that I certainly practiced all three of these in the last six years. Sometimes I was even ashamed to say more about my many problems, since you listened so many times. But that was always what comforted me, I knew you were there and willing to listen and give me the advice or moral support I needed. I'll never forget all of these things, Sandra, if I did

Sandra,

"Wha' cha been doin'?" I wonder how many times we've said that over the phone. We've really done some talking, haven't we? Along with talking we've really ~~had~~ had some good - and bad - times. Sandra, I hope that just because May 31st dawns that our ~~friend~~ friendship will not cease. I think that you and I have built a lasting friendship, don't you? I was thinking the other day how it is going to be next year not to be able to run (walk) up to your house or call you anytime that I have a problem, or just want to talk. You know - I couldn't think of anything good about it except that we can write.

"The big four" have had some "balls", right? I'm not going into all the little details ~~but~~ because right now they don't seem too important. It really hurts to think that there are not too many times left for all of us in the future, but I hope that the remaining ones will ~~mean~~ mean as much to us. We will all be making new friends but from the bottom of my heart, I don't think I will, or I know I won't, find anyone that can replace "Sandra Jean." There's a lot of room for you and your wonderful family in my "ole heart."

Just think, Sandra, in 17 short days it will be all over. All ~~the~~ anticipation of getting drivers license, having our first real date, the junior - senior, getting annuale and of course, graduation will all be in the past. It's really so sad that I can hardly stand to write it down. Sandra, I hope that the future will bring only happiness and love to you. I also hope that you will be blessed with a wonderful husband and family (some day). And when that day comes, no matter how far apart we are, I won't us to still be very close, don't you?

RESERVED-Phyllis May 18, 1963

Sandra,

I've been putting off writing in your annual because I knew it ~~ever~~ would be the last time that I would ever have that opportunity. But, there has to be an end for everything. Even though the "Big Four" will be "splitting up" after this year, I'll never forget the good times we have had together. It seems to me that we, <sup>four</sup> are ~~ever~~ very close "sisters".

Well, you know how I feel about you, Linda, and Mary. I don't know what I would have done sometime if it hadn't been for y'all. We sure have been through some ~~ten~~ things together. Like when the bread basket caught on fire and other little "accidents" we have had. I've really enjoyed the parties, & beach trips we have had together.

Sandra, I want you to know that over the years that I've known you I've grown to love you more than you'll ever know. You have really "stuck by" me in a lot of things. I guess you know things about me that no one else knows. I've practically trusted you with my life and my future. (you know what I'm talking about, I'm sure). Anyway, I truly thank you for everything you have ever done for me and I'm sure "other people" do too.
